

Text as interface

These are instructions, prompts, button text, or link text presented in on-screen interfaces. Rewrite or redesign for better usability.

- ① Validate your postal address information. Thank you for activating an account.
- ② To query the opportunities database, users should enter descriptive text for the desired position in the field below.
(In a website that compiles job and internship postings.)
- ③ [Next]
(A button; when pressed/tapped, it charges a user's card and sends the order for fulfillment.)
- ④ Do not choose more than four fabrics.
Also: how could we help address this problem in an on-screen form?
- ⑤ Click here to learn more about chimpanzees.
- ⑥ Select a color for the current item.
(On a website selling custom laptop sleeves.)
- ⑦ Please confirm your intention to terminate your account with Fozzolybob.com.
- ⑧ Error 4155: None of the desired items are available.
(On a car rental site, after trying to rent a car.)
- ⑨ Do not submit this form until after you have received the product.
- ⑩ Identify the vehicle to rent and then select the reservation's ending and starting dates and enter a method of payment. In order to continue, drivers should click on the "Purchase" button below.
(On a car rental site, with a credit card form here.)
- ⑪ Click the red button to continue.
- ⑫ [Ticket Information]
(A button)
- ⑬ [Availabilities]
(A button that lets you make an appointment)